PREFACE

The writer has been engaged in research on the history of the Linkous family, and in the course of that work, the story of St. Michael's Lutheran Church became involved. The first member of the Linkous family in America was a German named Henry Linkous (Heinrich Linckost). He purchased a 200 acre farm in 1799 from the James Patton estate. One phrase in the deed to that farm refers to an exception of "four acres thereof which is reserved and has been bestowed to the Lutheran German Church." [See Montgomery County Deed Book C, page 216.] The farm remains in this year, 1983, in the ownership of Henry Linkous' descendants, Mae and Michael Kipps, great-great-great grandchildren of Henry's.

Rev. Ulysses S. A. Heavener (1867-1951) published the book, "The German New River Settlement" in 1929 (Reprinted in 1976.) in which he covered much of the history and people of St. Michael's Lutheran Church (called St. Peter's mainly by Heavener because it went by that name in the period of Heavener's youth.) [The writer only knew U.S.A. Heavener slightly, but 2 sisters and 2 brothers of his were like grandparents to the writer.] Heavener's book refers to the St. Michael's Church Book and reprints essentially all of the baptismal records plus a few other items.

However, Heavener clearly did not present all the contents. The writer was diligently searching for information on Henry Linkous and believed there should be information in the church book about him since the church was within the bounds of his farm. A search for the church book was undertaken and it was finally located in the archives of the Lutheran Church headquarters at Roanoke, Virginia. The Historian of the archives graciously permitted me to photograph the book.

My disappointment in not finding references to my ancestor, Henry Linkous, was great, although there were a few references to Henry's descendants. The reason for his absence from the church book entries was later discovered to be the fact that he was a Roman Catholic.

I have believed I had some obligation to make the whole of the church book information available to historians and genealogists; thus my motive for preparing and printing this book. My personal roots are not in this church, since I grew up 9 miles from it. Neither do I have any level of expertise as a historian of the Lutheran Church in Virginia.

However, some readers of this book may be interested in that aspect so I will present enough facts on St. Michael's church to put the church book in perspective. The facts are taken from the following references:

- (1) "The German New River Settlement" by U.S.A. Heavener.
- (2) "The Lutheran Church in Virginia, 1717-1962" by William Edward Eisenberg, October 1966, published by the Trustees of the Virginia Synod, Lutheran Church in America, Roanoke, Virginia and printed 1967 by J.P. Bell Company of Lynchburg, Virginia.

- (3) "Early Adventurers on the Western Waters", Volume I, by Mary B. Kegley and F.B. Kegley, published 1980, printed by Green Publishers, Inc., Orange, Virginia, page 268.

The selected facts are as follows:

- (1) A congregation apparently began forming in the German New River settlement at least as early as 1755, the year of Patton's death, who had promised the congregation the land.
- (2) A congregation was formally organized, October 16, 1796.
- (3) The Trustees received a deed on August 5, 1806 to the land.
- (4) It was first known a St. Michael's, then as Price's church (1809), and then as St. Peter's Church.
- (5) St. Peter's closed for worship in 1885 and the building was torn down a few years later according to Heavener.
- (6) St. Peter's Church became New St. Peter's Church on a new site a few miles away in 1905.
- (7) A monument to the original congregation was erected on the site of St. Michael's in 1946. The writer visited the site around 1964 and found the monument amidst scattered bricks, trees, tree stumps and a large cemetery filled with brush and briars. There were only a few tombstones to be found.
- (8) A new structure also known as St. Michael's Lutheran Church was erected in 1971 on the site of the original St. Michael's by the merged congregations of New St. Peter's and St. Marks, offsprings of the original St. Michael's--St. Peter's congregation.

The old church book is in a very fragile and tattered condition. I have included three photographs below to illustrate its condition. These particular pages are in German. Other parts of the book are in English. In the presentation of the text, I have indicated which language was used on a particular page.

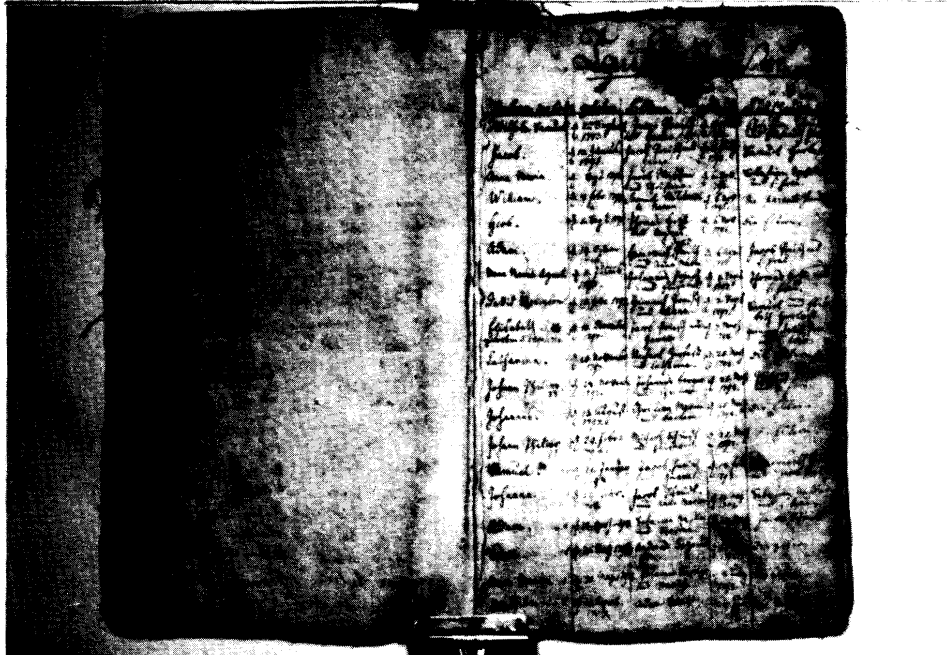

The pages have two sets of numbers. An apparently original set is at the top of the pages. These numbers are discontinuous between pages 8 and 18, apparently due to these pages having been removed. Another set of page numbers are to be found at the bottom, apparently from a later entry, and these are continuous from 1 through 96 with a few pages skipped. I have used the set of numbers at the bottom of the pages for identification.

As can be seen from the photographs, the text is very hard to read due to faded ink, poor handwriting, freestyle and irregular spelling and unfamiliar form of some of the characters of the alphabet. Therefore, there may be numerous deviations from what the original writer intended, but I have done the best that I am able to do. In no case have I attempted to improve or correct the text.

As stated above, much of the book is written in German. We are indebted to a translation provided by the historian at the Lutheran Church office in Roanoke, Virginia. It was made by Ruddy Fridolin Sudorp in 1969.

Translated from German

To the glory of the Triune God may these pages be dedicated as an official CHURCH-BOOK of the Evangelical principal congregation of St. Michael's Church in the free North American State of Virginia and its surrounding territory, called Montgomery County.

Herein contained, partly, the church laws, enjoined for observation; and in part the register of those baptized, confirmed, married, together with communicants, and the register of burials.

Begun by the hereinafter subscribed members of the above named congregation on the 16th of October 1796 and recorded by

M. Wolfgang Friderich August Daser

Evangelical Preacher for many years

REGULATIONS AND LAWS

The following undersigned members of the Evangelical congregation in the Virginia territory of Montgomery County herewith solemnly agree and covenant to faithfully observe the ensuing church regulations and laws, and to recognize, keep, and execute the same for themselves as well as for their descendants as proper rules for the improvement and advancements of their church life.

I

That they together with their children and children's children adhere to the one apostolic doctrine of salvation and faith; and will devote themselves to communicating the same to the following generation, and to this end pledge themselves as an Evangelical Protestant congregation, contributing everything possible according to their powers for the increase and upbuilding of their church life.

II

That only those, who together with them, in like manner declare themselves bound as true and valid members of their congregation, shall be considered.

III

That since the well-being of a congregation can find its foundation alone in a well ordered church condition, they herewith promise to never let the public service of worship in their church be abated, but rather take constant care that the congregation is always served with a competent preacher, and especially that the growing youth be indoctrinated year in, year out in the basics of their most holy religion by qualified men.

IV

That for the realization of such goals they not only continue and complete with God's help the already begun building of their church structure with all earnestness and zeal, but continue to maintain it with integrity.

V

That in the future they will call no preacher into their service before examining his doctrine and conduct, and having good references to his competence, is well recommended by other recognized preachers in the land.

VI

That the duties of such a preacher shall be to hold an edifying talk on Sundays, festival days, days of penitence and thanksgiving, publicly; to baptize their children; to instruct those for confirmation who have reached the age of discretion; to offer the Holy Communion two to three times a year; to marry the betrothed; to regularly visit the sick; and to bury the dead.

VII

That the church government in this congregation shall in the future be exercised by the following persons: two elders and two deacons, who shall annually be elected from the congregation on Easter Monday. Their duties shall be to engage church and school personnel with the approval of the congregation, to pay their wages, to supervise their conduct; to maintain the church building, in fact to supervise all arrangements in the congregation, but especially to keep strict supervision during the public service of worship

VIII

These elected church elders and deacons shall consult frequently with one another and with other judicious members of the congregation as to what might serve the improvement of their church's development. Their counsels as well as their arrangements shall be recorded in this book.

IX

When a competent preacher is engaged, his annual wages, revenues and perquisites shall be determined and remain so fixed unless the condition of the land, dearth, or other conditions necessitate change. Also, no such accepted preacher shall be required to give up the tenure of his church living here either by dismissal or being deposed without weighty grounds. Rather all the more, a written settlement shall be sought with him, so that preacher and congregation may know in what relationships they stand to one another.

X

That the undersigned together with neighboring congregations and other friends shall undertake a collection of a definite sum of money for the purpose of acquiring a suitable piece of church land for the use of the incumbent Preacher, upon which shall be constructed the necessary buildings for the accomodation of the same.

XI

No member of the congregation shall decline to give a responsible answer on important matters pertaining to the preacher, the elders, or the deacons.

XII

Just as the Preacher is expected to look out for the welfare of the congregation, so shall every member show the proper respect and honor toward the office of the Preacher, his person, and his family.

XIII

These rules shall be considered permanent, binding, and statutory; and when with the passage of time, others are collectively agreed upon by wise church councils, officers, and congregational members, as serviceable and necessary, they shall be added to these and in like manner undersigned and sealed by Preacher and congregation.

This we declare, promise, vow, and confirm herewith by our signed signatures together with our affixed seal. So ordered on the 16th of October, 1796.

INDEX OF NAMES

The following index will be helpful for persons to quickly search for a specific family name or specific person. The index is intended to be exactly like the spelling of the entries in the pages of this book, which in turn is intended to be exactly like the pages of the entries in the original book. The spelling varies widely in the original book for what is the same family name and the same given name. Furthermore, there is the problem of interpreting the handwriting of the original entry. Therefore, the reader should check the several entries that probably represent the same family according to the following listing.
